

Walking With God

By Rickie Byars

What kept me sad was the story in my head about what I never had and what I never said but I can sing a song the flowers gave to me
It helps to keep me strong, It helps me to be free.

Now when I'm walking with you, I'm walking with God.
When I'm talking with you, I'm talking with God
When I'm praying with you, I'm praying with God
If God is all there is, then everything is God.

When I'm laughing with you, I'm laughing with God
When I'm singing with you, I'm singing with God
In the arms of my friends, I'm in the arms of God
If God is all there is, then everything is God.

There is a road, a journey we must take
It starts from within, it's just a thought away
I can sing a song the Spirit gave to me
It helps to keep me strong, it helps me to be free.

Now when I'm walking with you, I'm walking with God
When I'm talking with you, I'm talking with God
When I'm praying with you, I'm praying with God
If God is all there is, then everything is God.

When I'm laughing with you, I'm laughing with God
When I'm singing with you, I'm singing with God
In the arms of my friends, I'm in the arms of God.

If God is all there is, then everything is God
If God is all there is, then everything is God
If God is all there is, then everything is God.
