Introductory Notice

Please respect the author and read this notice prior to the transcription

♫ About the music

The following score transcribes the piano solo music played by Keith Jarrett as an "Encore" during his concert at the Tokyo Concert Hall, on November 14th, 1976. I used the official ECM recording of the Sun Bear Concerts Box Set disc 6 as the source medium.
The original playing time of this piece is about 8 minutes. I have yet to know whether it was completely improvised or if Keith Jarrett had prepared it before the concert. It is anyway the only recording I heard which features it.

♫ About the transcription

First, please be tolerant as this is my first transcription of that kind. I can tell there will be mistakes, so if you find one please do email me so that I can correct it. The most mistake-sensitive part include those where Jarrett plays weird rhythms at the melody, and those where the middle voice is difficult to hear.
As to the music itself, it is based on a recurring four-measure harmonic pattern (basically, Em | Bm/D | Bmsus4/C#, C#7+ | Bsus4/F#, B7+). The lower voice plays this recurring harmony while the higher voice plays a melody (which starts at index A on the transcription). The pattern is broken at index B (approximately in the middle of the piece) but is brought back again at index C for a short period before giving the way to a big modulation starting at index D. It comes back from index E to the end of the piece, which finishes with some kind of chord cadenza.
I think 2 important choices I made have to be pointed out:
- I chose an Em key, despite the piece ending on a Bm harmony (which key would maybe have been more convenient since it would have removed all the sharps in front of nearly every C that comes along). Harmonically Em fits the pattern the best way.
- I split voice 2 into 2 sub-voices: a bass and a middle voice. I made this choice, first because it is easier to write that way since most of voice 2 is played in middle tones. More importantly, I am not a very good pianist (yes, it is a shame and I really wish I were) so I prefer letting those in the know with the piano technique decide what notes should be played with what hand. Melodically and harmonically, the fact that there could be a "3rd voice" in the middle is open to discussion.

♫ About the author

My name is Raphael Turbatte, I was born in 1984 near Paris. I started learning music in general at 3, and started learning my instrument, the Cello, at 5. I remained a music student at the local conservatory during 10 years and obtained diplomas in Cello playing, music analysis and harmonics, and of course music reading. While I stopped taking lessons when I was 17, I continued playing in small ensembles, and music remains one of my main interests. I have been listening to Keith Jarrett since my father first initiated me to his music, when I was 13. I have also always tried to play the piano and to improvise but never took any lessons. I am currently studying in French elite classes and will take the competitive exams at the end of the year to enter a business school.
If you want to contact me please use this email : rt [at] emptybox [dot] ws

Notes on Performance

*1 - Notes in parentheses are 'Texture Tones' and should be played pianissimo, serving as color and subordinate to the melody.

*2 - The right hand in these particular sections should be played 'freely' and not in tempo. Since the exact rhythms would be impossible to notate clearly, the written right hand rhythms are only approximations. The original recording should be referred to for guidance in these sections

*3 - The alternating groups of sextuplet and quintuplet quarter notes between m. 126 and 129 should sound as one large group of 22 evenly spaced quarter notes instead of as notated, which is only a simplified approximation.

….. etc. etc.…

Segue un'ulteriore gioco di blocchi ritmici accordali e poi riparte il fraseggio a quartine, sia all'interno della scala di tonalità (F maj) che con numerose note di tensione fino ad un fraseggio che porta alla conclusione basato su uno stupefacente episodio di "stretti" tematici in un impossibile contrappunto. L'improvvisazione si conclude con un ritorno del tema principale, preceduto da un breve preavviso disatteso, che si riduce in dinamica e in articolazione portando ad un riff finale ed una cadenzino sulla tonica. Non ho concluso la trascrizione perché trovo personalmente molto divertente proseguire l'improvvisazione da questo punto. Se qualcuno vuole terminare, poi magari me la può inviare.

* : Keith Jarrett spielt nicht völlig ohne Metrum, aber er ändert es oft. Bei der Notation habe ich mich nach meinem Empfinden gerichtet. Ungenauigkeiten sind im Interesse einer guten Lesbarkeit unvermeidlich. Letzte Referenz kann nur die Originalaufnahme sein. Wer sie nicht hören kann oder möchte richte sich danach : "The heart is where the music is" (Keith Jarrett im Vorwort zu "La Scala"). Das Niveau dieser Musik ist so hoch, dass eine eigene Interpretation möglich ist.

Über Verbesserungsvorschläge freue ich mich.
Weitere Transkriptionen sind bei mir erhältlich. F. Grossnick

* : Keith Jarrett does not play completely without metre; however, he does change it often. I have followed my instinct in finalising the notation. In order to create a legible transcription inaccuracies are unfortunately unavoidable. Please refer to the original recording for final clarification. Anyone unwilling or unable to listen to the original may refer to : "The heart is where the music is" (Keith Jarrett in the preface to "La Scala"). The standard of this music is so high that one's own interpretation is very possible.

Suggestions for improvement welcome.
Further transcriptions available upon request. F. Grossnick (Translation by David Jackson)

ALL THE THINGS YOU ARE :
KEITH JARRETT SOLO

Transcription de Stéphane Métraux

(cf. : Keith Jarrett : Standards, Vol 1. ECM 1255

Lorsque Jarrett joue les standards, on a l'impression qu'il vient de les composer. Son style efface la forme, et c'est à cela qu'on reconnaît, à mon avis, un des grands maîtres du piano moderne.
